*“Education is our passport to the future,
for tomorrow belongs to the people who prepare for it today.”*

Malcolm X

From the College President

Congratulations, Class of 2021!

Today we celebrate over 1200 graduates' success stories: stories marked by the demands of juggling family and work; by the realities of completing assignments and attending classes; and by the exhaustion borne of managing multiple priorities and expectations all while enduring the horrors and the pain of the worst pandemic in modern history. However, each of your stories are universal in their endings--for you are all here, today, celebrating the completion of this segment of your academic journey, especially in times that have been unprecedented in recent history.

On behalf of the faculty, staff, and administrators of West Los Angeles College, please know how appreciative we are to have taken this journey with you. We extend the heartiest of congratulations to you all and to your family and friends who have provided guidance and support throughout your time at West.

Remember, too, that you will always have a home here at West.

GO WEST. GO FAR!

Cordially,

James M. Limbaugh, Ph.D.

Our Speakers

GABRIEL BUELNA, PH.D. - LACCD BOARD OF TRUSTEE VICE PRESIDENT

Dr. Gabriel Buelna graduated from California State University, Northridge (CSUN) with a Bachelor's degree before completing a Master's program in Social Work at San Diego State University. He then earned his Ph.D. from the School of Politics and Economics at the Claremont Graduate University. In 1999, Dr. Buelna joined CSUN as a faculty member where he continues to teach history and politics in the Chicana/o Studies Department.

In the early 90s, he began his career as a children's social worker with the Los Angeles County Department of Children and Family Services and went on to work in foster care. He worked with abused and neglected children, their families, law enforcement, and the courts. Through this intense involvement in the community, Dr. Buelna learned that safe neighborhoods, job creation, and education are the foundation for healthy families. He attributes much of his success to his strong family ties. As the son of Mexican immigrant parents and growing up in South Los Angeles, Dr. Buelna grew up in a household where education was a central core value. He remains committed to improving the world his daughters will inherit and imparts upon them the critical need to do the same for their children.

FRANCISCO C. RODRIGUEZ, PH.D. - LACCD CHANCELLOR

Francisco C. Rodriguez, Ph.D., is the Chancellor of the Los Angeles Community College District, the largest community college district in the nation with nine, fully accredited colleges, more than 230,000 students enrolled annually and an annual operating budget of $5.8 billion.

Since 2014, he has worked to raise the District's profile and improve its reputation as the best urban community college district in the nation. A noted scholar and education activist, Chancellor Rodriguez has more than 30 years of experience as an educator, faculty member and administrator within California public higher education. He has dedicated his career to high quality public education and championing diversity, equity and inclusion, and outreach to underserved communities. He is a fierce advocate for educational policies that expand access to higher education and financial aid, especially for undocumented students and U.S. veterans, and for the leadership development of young Latino and African American males. He frequently speaks on the topics of higher education, student access and success, governance and governing boards, workforce development, fundraising and philanthropy, and community.

In 2018, Chancellor Rodriguez received the Ohtli Award—or “Reconocimiento Ohtli”—from the Government of Mexico, one of the highest civilian honors it bestows, in recognition of his tireless advocacy of higher education to aid, empower or positively change the lives of tens of thousands of Mexican descendants or nationals in the United States.

Dr. Rodriguez has also served as chair of the National Science Foundation's Advisory Committee for the Directorate of Education and Human Resources; as a director of the Board of Higher Education and Workforce of the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering and Medicine; president of the California Association of Latino Community College Trustees and Administrators Association (CALCCTA); and was an appointee of California Governor Jerry Brown to the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education (WICHE).

Bachelor of Science in Dental Hygiene

The dental hygiene program opened at West Los Angeles College in 1973. In 2014, Governor Jerry Brown authorized California community colleges to confer bachelor's degrees. The California Community Colleges Chancellor's Office then granted permission for West and 14 other campuses to offer one baccalaureate program. For West, the program is in Dental Hygiene and the first class was accepted in 2016.

The program requires 125 units that include: CSU Transfer Breadth Curriculum, program requirements and the core dental hygiene curriculum. Also included are 648 hours of clinical practicum hours completed at UCLA School of Dentistry, Veteran's Affairs, South Bay Children's Dental Clinic, MEND Clinic and the West Los Angeles College Dental Hygiene Clinic. Additionally, 108 hours of community services are provided to local schools and care facilities to educate the public on the importance of oral health as it relates to whole body health.

Degrees, Certificates & Honors

ASSOCIATE DEGREES

The Associate in Arts and Associate in Science Degrees are awarded by community colleges to indicate the satisfactory completion of 60 or more units of course credit in a selected curriculum.

“For Transfer” is noted when the degree is an Associate Degree for Transfer (AA-T and AS-T). Students who complete an Associate Degree for Transfer are guaranteed admission to a California State University.

CERTIFICATE OF ACHIEVEMENT

Certificates for Achievement are granted by community colleges to indicate satisfactory completion of an organized program of occupational or vocational study of 16 to 45 units. The units earned toward a Certificate of Achievement may be applied toward the Associate in Arts or Associate in Science degree of the same major.

GRADUATE

This is a student who has completed all course work for an Associate in Arts/Associate in Science Degree or Certificate of Achievement prior to the graduation ceremony. This includes Summer 2020, Fall 2020 and Winter 2021 graduates who have no courses in progress that are needed for the granting of the Degree or Certificate of Achievement.

CANDIDATE FOR GRADUATION

This is a student who is currently enrolled in courses that are needed for the awarding of an Associate in Arts/Associate in Science Degree or Certificate of Achievement in Spring 2021 and upon satisfactory completion of these courses will have completed all of the requirements for the Degree or Certificate of Achievement.

PARTICIPANT IN GRADUATION

This is a student who at the end of the Spring or Summer 2021 semester will not have completed all the courses necessary for an Associate in Arts/Associate in Science Degree. The student has no more than two classes (6 units) to complete.

ACADEMIC AWARDS

The following academic awards are granted to Graduates and Candidates for Graduation upon conferring the Associate in Arts / Associate in Science Degree. These awards are based on the cumulative grade-point average of all college related course work completed at an accredited college or university.

- With Distinction (Cum Laude) – Cumulative grade point average of 3.0 to 3.49. Student receives a blue honor cord.
- With High Distinction (Magna Cum Laude) – Cumulative grade point average of 3.50 to 3.69. Student receives a blue and gold honor cord.
- With Great Distinction (Summa Cum Laude) – Cumulative grade point average of 3.7 to 4.0. Student receives a gold honor cord.

Academic Costume

Caps and gowns have been worn in United States universities since colonial times due to our English heritage. About 1885, there was a wide-spread student movement for the wearing of caps and gowns at commencement ceremonies. The idea found quick favor in academic circles, and caps and gowns soon became common at graduation and other formal academic ceremonies as the apparel for both students and faculty. Occasionally hoods appeared, fashioned, however, after no particular code as to pattern and color.

In 1895, an Intercollegiate Commission, composed of leading American educators, met at Columbia College to draft a uniform code which would be applicable to all American institutions of higher learning. A simple code adaptable to the needs of our colleges, regulating the design and pattern of gowns, hoods, caps, and the materials to be used, was suggested and adopted, with very few exceptions, by all the American colleges and universities.

The gowns indicating the various academic degrees are basically modifications of the gowns worn traditionally by scholars, masters of arts, and doctors at Oxford University in England. The following standards were designed for the degrees.

Bachelor's gown of cotton poplin or similar material with long, pointed sleeves and closing at the top only. Master's gown of the cotton or similar material, made with a long, closed sleeve with an arc of a circle appearing near the bottom, and a slit for the arm. The master's gown is worn open or closed. Doctor's gown of black silk (or silk-like material) with a full, round, open sleeve. The gown is faced with velvet or may have three bars of velvet on each sleeve. This velvet may be black or the same colors as the velvet indicative of the department, which edges the hood. The doctor's gown may be worn open or closed.

The black Oxford or mortarboard style cap is worn for all degrees, but only doctorate or presidents of institutions may wear a gold tassel on the cap. The cap is an essential part of the American academic costume and should be worn at all times, except, that men remove their caps during prayer, the playing of the National Anthem, and the Alma Mater.

The gold tassel on the doctorate cap is fastened so that it drapes over the left front quarter of the cap. Most schools leave the tassel draped over the left temple at all times. It has become customary for the graduates to change the tassel from the right to the left upon receiving the diploma, but this is not essential. It is essential that all graduates wear the tassel alike.

The most distinctive feature of the academic costume is the hood. The system established by the Intercollegiate Commission, when understood, enables anyone attending an academic function to distinguish at a glance the degree held by the wearer, the university from which the degree was received, and the field or department bestowing the degree. The doctorate hood, of black cloth matching the gown, is four feet in length and made in a wide, more-or-less rectangular panel, with rounded corners. The master's and bachelor's hood are three and one-half and three feet in length respectively. They are made of cloth matching the gown and follow the shape of the Oxford Hood. The hoods for all the degrees are lined with silk in the official academic colors. For example, Northwestern University gowns are lined in the school's purple and gold, not in the purple and white of the athletic teams. Schools having more than one official color have these colors arranged in the form of a chevron.

The binding or trim of hoods is of velvet or velveteen, in varying widths depending upon the degree held, five inches, three inches, and two inches wide for the doctorate, master's and bachelor's degrees, respectively. The color of this trim indicates the department or field to which the degree pertains, each major department having been assigned a different color by the Intercollegiate Code; for instance, white for the arts, red for theology, etc.

The colors assigned to the various departments were selected because of real or imagined historical associations. The white of the department of arts and letters is taken from the white of Oxford and Cambridge Bachelor of Arts hoods. Red, traditional color of the church indicates a degree in theology. The royal purple of King's Court signifies the law. Green, color of medicinal herbs, stands for the faculty of medicine. Blue, the color of wisdom and truth, signifies philosophy. Golden yellow indicated science, because through research, untold wealth has been given to the world. The Oxford pink was retained to indicate degrees in music in the United States, while Olive was selected for pharmacy because of its close alliance to the green of medicine. The russet brown of forestry was a tribute to the old-time dress of the English foresters.
